No Dark-Eyed Lover Came.

Katie Astfalk has been wearing a ring set with a green stone in her left stocking and a little bag of sand in her right stocking for 18 days in the vain hope that it would bring her a dark-eyed lover with a heap of wealth. Katie is 30 years old, and it was the lover and not the wealth that she wanted. Katie is fair-haired, blue-eyed, and trusting. Her friends say there is no good reason why the lover shouldn't have come without the use of mascots. Katie is employed as a servant in a residence in Central Avenue, Newark. She had saved $230. One day in September a jaunty gypsy woman with black eyes and hair as black as crows' feathers called at the house. She said to Katie:

"My child, what beautiful eyes you have." Katie hung her head and looked at the floor.

"My child," said the gypsy, "what beautiful teeth you have." Katie shut her lips.

"My child," said the gypsy, "what beautiful hands you have." Katie held her hands behind her back.

"Get me teacups, teacups, teacups," said the gypsy, "and I will tell your fortune."

Katie got three teacups and the gypsy looked at them and said: "He is good-looking, is middle-aged, black-eyed, and has great wealth. He will soon propose marriage to you."

Katie was much pleased and gave the gypsy $50. On October 2 the gypsy came back and told Katie that she would bring the wealthy lover to her if well paid for the service. She worked the teacups again, and told the trusting woman a marvelous tale about the man who was to marry her. Katie was so impressed that she gave the gypsy $150 for the ring with the green stone. The gypsy told Katie to carry the ring in her left stocking for three days and at night put it under her pillow.

At the end of the third day the gypsy came back and got $80 more for the little bag of sand to be carried in Katie's right stocking for 9 days, and a bottle of colored liquor which was to be kept in her pocket for the same period. Katie faithfully followed the woman's instructions, not for nine but for eighteen days to make doubly sure. But no lover came. Then Katie told some of her friends about it. They advised her to inform the police, and she did so. The police said that the gypsy no doubt shook the red dirt of Jersey from her shoes the day she got the $80.

MISCELLANEOUS.—What the French call a drame de jalousie has just taken place in the Place des Victoires, Paris. Three months ago a susceptible Turkish tailor named Gadulas made the acquaintance of a young dressmaker, Louise Biefnot. The friendship soon ripened into faux menage.

The third character in the drama was a Greek named Maschopoulos Lenthieris, who came to Paris to study law but who on account of financial difficulties was obliged to take domestic service. The Greek soon conceived passion for the mistress of his employer, but was at first repulsed by her.

Gadulas was called away to Turkey on business. In his absence he confided the care of his house to Maschopoulos. The coast was thus cleared for the Greek, who at once renewed his suit. Louise Biefnot would have nothing to do with him and went to live in the Rue St. Joseph.

The last act of the drama was played at the establishment of Chevet, a tailor in the Place des Victoires, where Louise was employed. The Greek came to call under the pretext of handing her a letter.

As soon as he saw her he pulled her on the landing and attacked her with a knife, striking her eight times on the head.

The neighbors seized the would-be murderer, who was taken before a Commissioner of Police to whom he confessed his crime, saying jealousy had driven him to it. He was immediately sent to the prison. The poor woman is in a dangerous condition with several serious wounds. —New York Herald.

CREAM SALAD DRESSING.—Mash the yolks of three hard-boiled eggs until smooth, then rub in the raw yolk of one egg. Work with a knife that will bend easily. Add one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper, and a tablespoonful of melted butter. When well blended add by degrees one-half cup of thick cream, working and stirring all the while. Then add gradually two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Put in a cold place.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurl, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined I would not stay with any one above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at C. L. Leno's Drug Store, 604 King street. The prices are way down, and if you need anything in this line you should call early, as they will undoubtedly sell on sight.

That you have appreciated our endeavors to sell you the newest goods on the market at the lowest figures is verified by the fact that for some days we were entirely out of fine Tea Sets, and that our entire stock of Brass Goods in Afternoon Tea Stands and Clafing Dishes was exhausted, though orders were at the factory as soon as we saw how fast they were going off. We are constantly adding to our stock, and will continue to add to the same by the newest productions. No trouble to show goods. Polite attention shown and prompt delivery assured purchasers.
